

Product photos on your phone

Same spot, same light, same way, every time. That's what makes a shop look like one shop.

01 Light

- 1 Shoot by a big window in daylight. Around midday or a cloudy day is best.
- 2 No direct sun on the product. If it's coming in, hang a white sheet or net curtain over the window.
- 3 Flash off. Room lights off too, they turn photos yellow.

02 Backdrop

- 1 One plain warm-white or ivory board or sheet, behind and under the product. The same one every time.
- 2 Prop a second white board opposite the window. It bounces light back into the shadows.

03 Set up once, then repeat

- 1 Pick one spot and mark it with tape: where the product sits and where the phone goes.
- 2 Same distance, same height. Phone on a stack of books or a cheap tripod.
- 3 Gridlines on, 1x lens (not 0.5x), no filters.
- 4 Tap the product to focus, then slide the little sun down a touch so whites don't glare.
- 5 Product in the middle, filling about 70% of the frame.

04 Four shots per product

1. Main photo

Square, straight on, phone at the product's middle height. Every product has one.

2. From above

About 45°, looking down on it.

3. A detail

Close in on the stems, the stone, the clasp.

4. Size

In your hand or on a table, so people see how big it is.

05 Name the files

- 1 Product name, lowercase, hyphens: blush-rose-bouquet-1.jpg
- 2 -1 is always the square main photo, then -2, -3, -4.
- 3 Write the same names in the spreadsheet's Photo filenames column.

06 Crystals and jewellery

- 1 A dark slate, or the same ivory board.
- 2 Show the size with a coin or your hand.
- 3 Wipe off dust and fingerprints first.

07 Balloons

- 1 Outdoors in the shade, or against a plain wall.
- 2 Get the whole bundle in, weight and all.

08 Delivery photos

- 1 Always ask before photographing the person receiving the flowers.
- 2 If in doubt, just the bouquet on the doorstep: no faces, no house numbers.
